SULZER LAUNCHED APPEAL TO MURPHY TO PREVENT TRIAL

Ryan Says Governor Asked Him to Have Delaney Nicolli See Tammany Boss. ADVISED HIM TO RESIGN

Court Reverses Monday Ruling on Request of Senator Brown; Admits Ryan Testimony.

The testimony was given after the court by a secret vote of 10 to 14 decided to admit upon the record Ryan's testimony of yesterday. This was that Gov. Sulzer had asked him to see Senator Root and request him to induce state Chairman William Barnes to influence the Republican votes of the members of the court to declare the impeachment proceeding illegal because they were brought during an extraordinary session of the Legislature.

Asked Ryan to See Nicolli. Ryan said that Sulzer asked him to see Delaney Nicolli, his father's attorney, and to request him to see Murphy. "He wanted me," said the witness, "to have Mr. Nicolli away from Murphy to tell him that the assembly had no right to impeach him. He said Mr. Nicolli could be the go-between, and that he would be ready to do whatever was right."

What did you do in regard to seeing Delaney Nicolli? asked Attorney Stanchfield of counsel for the impeachment managers. "I told the Governor," replied the witness, "that I would see what I could do and went out into the country and found it."

Previous to this, Ryan said, in response to the Governor's request that he get Senator Root to see Barnes, he had promised to sound the "Republican sentiment" in the court of impeachment himself.

I suggested to Mr. Sulzer that not that certain charges had been made against him, I did not see that he could afford to put himself in a position in which he could not answer the charges. He said that the reason was that he did not want to drag his wife into the situation and put her on the stand.

"I told him I could not go to Washington, but I would try to ascertain the Republican sentiment on that question—whether the Court had a right to impeach him."

Prepared Public Statement. "Is that all of the conversation?" asked Attorney Stanchfield. "No, sir. He said that if they voted that the trial was not legal, he could make a public statement and explain the situation satisfactorily."

With the purpose of feeling the Republican sentiment, Ryan said, he saw a "friend," whose name he did not disclose. This friend, according to Ryan, stated a statement to him on the situation which he said he showed to Governor Sulzer.

Stanchfield Reads Statement. Ryan produced a copy of the memorandum at the request of Mr. Stanchfield. The document that was read by Mr. Stanchfield, it said, "The best way to get it is as follows: The elected members of the Court of Appeals will sit; the appointed members will be excluded."

FALLING WALLS HURT 2 FIREMEN; NEGRO IS KILLED

Charred Body Found in Ruins at 2923 Washington, Where Stable Burns.

TWO MEN BADLY HURT

Capt. Joseph Thompson and Martin Burke Held Under Debris 15 Minutes.

The charred body of a negro was found Tuesday afternoon in the ruins of a brick stable in the rear of Mrs. Mary Kriebbaum's home, 2923 Washington avenue. The burning of the stable at 1:30 a. m. is believed to have been caused by carelessness of the negro, who is supposed to have sought shelter there. No one in the neighborhood recognized the body.

Capt. Joseph Thompson of Engine Company No. 2, Twentieth street and Washington avenue, and Lieut. Martin Burke were buried under the falling walls of the building when it collapsed, just after they had gone inside to see if the flames were extinguished. They were helpless under the debris 15 minutes, and were dug out by other firemen.

Burke was sent to Alexian Brothers Hospital, and is in a serious condition. He received burns about both legs, three scalp wounds, several cuts in the face, was injured internally, and was almost suffocated by gas. Capt. Thompson was taken to his home, 1200 Clark avenue. He was cut and bruised, and both legs were burned.

Shielded by Bulky Form. Capt. Thompson said that he and Burke fell together, and that Burke's bulky form shielded him from more serious injuries from the falling bricks and stones. He wore a heavy helmet, which protected his head.

This was the second accident in which Company No. 2 figured during the night. Responding to an alarm at the Mount City Box Factory, 2000 Gratiot street, at 9:30 p. m. the reel almost collided with an Olive car at Twenty-first and Olive streets.

The driver, George Hoffman, swung the team sharply to avoid a collision and the hose wagon struck an automobile standing near the curb. Firemen George Meier and Fred Faucett were thrown off and were bruised slightly. Thompson and Burke were riding on the wagon, but were not injured in the accident.

This is the fifth accident in the last three years in which Burke has been injured seriously. Two weeks ago he was caught between a ladder and a building at Ninth street and Washington avenue and his right arm was hurt. Three months ago a horse fell on him and he was hurt. Twice before, firemen say, he was injured when the company was responding to alarms.

GROVER ACCUSED OF DECEIVING DUN AGENCY

Said He Had $47,500 Assets But Indictment Alleges He Has None.

Charles Kreutz, a grocer at 2324 North Market street, was arrested Tuesday on an indictment charging him with making a false financial statement to R. G. Dun & Co., commercial agents. It is alleged that on Oct. 11 Kreutz reported to the Dun Agency that he owned real estate valued at $15,000, and mortgaged for $9000. He is charged with having sworn that he had outstanding bills amounting to $1000, that his total liabilities were $10,000, and that his assets above liabilities were $17,500. The indictment charges that Kreutz owns no real estate; that his outstanding debts are $3000 to $4000; that he has $1000 liabilities, and that he has no excess of assets over his indebtedness. Kreutz was released on a $200 bond signed by Joseph Mount, a saloonkeeper.

ORDERED TO PAY $100 FOR REMARKS IN CHURCH ROW

Man Who Signed Note to Prevent Damage Suit by Undertaker Loses Case.

AGREEMENT A NOVEL ONE

Differences Result of Rival Embalmers' Fight for Holy Trinity Business.

The Mutual Aid Society of Holy Trinity Church, Fourteenth and Mallinckrodt streets, is an ancient organization, but its death rate is not heavy enough to keep two rival undertakers busy. This is preliminary to a novel decision given Tuesday by Justice of the Peace George Grassmuck decided that a written promise to abstain from filing a damage suit was sufficient consideration to make a note for $100 binding, and accordingly gave judgment in favor of the note's holder.

John Deiss, an undertaker at 1525 Mallinckrodt street, was the holder of the note, the maker of which was Henry J. Kasselmann, a boilermaker, of 1418 Newhouse avenue. Kasselmann's signature was witnessed by Henry Koch, an embalmer, living at 302 North Fourteenth street, and the transaction was instigated by matters relating to the business of Edward Koch, an undertaker, at 2015 North Fourteenth street.

Another Wanted Business. For the last six years Edward Koch has been funeral marshal of the Holy Trinity Mutual Aid Society and in that capacity has had charge of hiring carriages for pallbearers at funerals of members of the organization.

Deiss complained that Koch was giving all the society's business to his own undertaking concern and demanded to know why he should not at least be allowed to furnish the pallbearers' carriages at every alternate funeral. He was willing to divide the work with Koch, he said.

Koch's friends retorted that the society did not have enough funerals to keep two undertakers busy and that Deiss' complaint therefore was without merit. Deiss, however, continued to complain until he had the by-laws of the organization amended so that he and Koch should alternate in furnishing pallbearers' carriages.

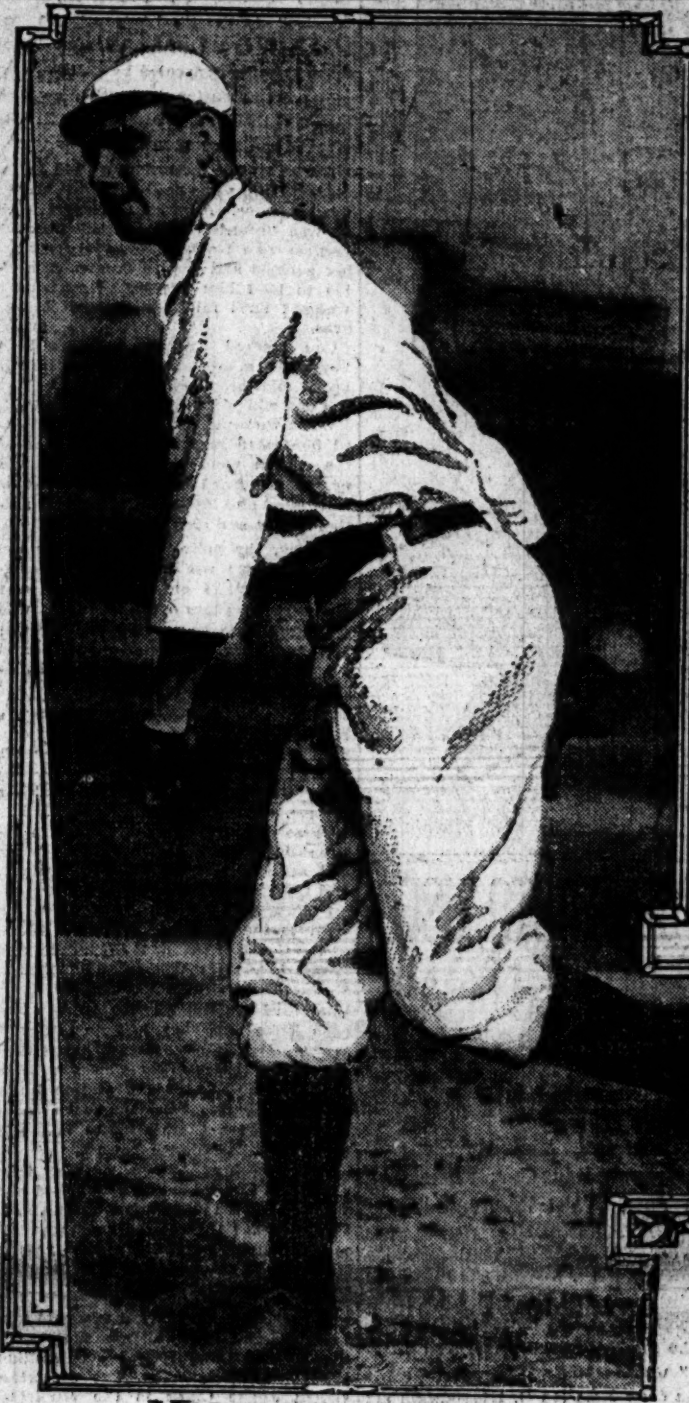

The funeral two months ago of Anton Engelkraut of 1417 Mallinckrodt street caused a widening of the breach between the factions supporting the two rival undertakers. Deiss was engaged by the family to furnish a pallbearers' carriage, and at the next meeting of the society he was accused by friends of Koch of having resorted to unfair means to get the Engelkraut order.

The discussion became heated and as a climax Deiss arose from his chair and, shaking his finger in the face of Tony Kasselmann, threatened to make that gentleman pay dearly for every word he had said about Deiss.

Threatened Damage Suit. Later Deiss consulted an attorney, who notified Kasselmann he would file a damage suit against him for remarks he had made about Deiss. The remarks had to do with Deiss' conduct as a member of the church and Deiss resented them.

Kasselmann said he did not want to be sued and the lawyer offered a compromise, which was accepted and a promissory note was drawn, in which Kasselmann agreed to pay Deiss $100 and to make apology at an open meeting of the Mutual Aid Society.

Decided to Ignore Note. Kasselmann later was advised by friends that he was making entirely too much restitution and he decided to ignore the written agreement. When Kasselmann had failed to pay the $100 or make the public apology Deiss filed suit.

GREAT CROWD AT POLO GROUNDS CHEER TEAMS

Five Thousand in Line, Women Among Them, When Polo Grounds Gates Are Opened—Smathers Bets $100,000 Athletics Will Win.

By Associated Press. POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Forty thousand persons filled the Polo Grounds this afternoon to see the New York Giants, pennant winners of the National League, play with the Philadelphia Athletics, leaders of the American League, in the first game of the world's championship baseball series.

Murky clouds, from which there came an occasional slanting drizzle, screened the sun and there was a constant threat of heavy weather. The Giants and Athletics went early to the clubhouse. "Chief" Bender was first in uniform. There was a rousing cheer as the Athletics' plating started his head out of the little doorway under the center field stand. Bender grinned and disappeared.

Early Practice Is Brief. Shortly afterward the clubs trotted on to the field for batting practice. Fielding practice was brisk and brilliant by home players and visitors and the players were cheered.

During batting practice, Wyckoff pitched for the Athletics and Fromme for the Giants. The Giants wore their home uniforms of white with white and purple stockings. The Athletics were garbed in their regular traveling uniforms of gray and white stockings with black band.

It was announced that Umpire Klein would give the balls and strikes decisions, while Umpire Egan was on the bases. Ripper went to left field and Umpire Connolly to right field. The diamond and backfields were in finest playing condition. The pitchers' boxes and base paths had been covered with canvas mats to shield them from any sudden downpours.

It was estimated that 200 persons were in line when the gates to the reserved seats were thrown open at 9:45 o'clock. The weather continued cloudy and unsettled. Many women were in evidence, some with their husbands, others unaccompanied. One aged fan, a teamster, collapsed on a street corner and was taken away in an ambulance.

The Batting Order

field line. Harzog sent a ball towards third, which was foul only by a few inches. Burns was caught out on the line when Bender took Harzog's ground-er and tossed to Baker, who threw to Collins, who returned the ball to Baker for the putout. Harzog went to second on the play. Murray was a strike-out victim, going out on three straight strikes. Meyers fled to Oldring. NO RUNS. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

GIANTS.—Bender grinned as Shaffer came to bat and shot a wide curve which was close to Shaffer's knees. It was a ball. The next one was a strike. Bender had good speed, which was difficult to follow in the dark day. Shaffer fled almost caught. Collins off first with a quick throw. Collins stole second, Meyers being slightly wide of the bag and the runner having taken a good lead on Marquard. Collins and Baker scored in Baker's home run into right field. It was a longer drive than Baker made when his famous home run two years ago at the Polo Grounds tied the score. Pandemonium broke loose and the Athletics players themselves patted Baker on the back. McInnis fled to Fletcher. TWO RUNS. ONE HIT. NO ERRORS.

GIANTS.—Merkle singled over second. McCormick batted for Marquard. McCormick singled to center. Merkle was held at second. Shaffer was out. Collins to McInnis. Merkle went to third and McCormick to second on the play. Merkle scored when Barry took Doyle's grounder and threw wild to first. McCormick went to third on the play. McCormick scored on Fletcher's long right field. Doyle took third on the play.

Doyle scored when Baker took Burns' grounder and threw out Fletcher. Collins took the throw. Harzog fled to McInnis. THREE RUNS. THREE HITS. ONE ERROR.

ILLINOISAN ENDS LIFE IN A BOARDING HOUSE

The body of Harry W. Herschelman, 31 years old, was found Tuesday afternoon in his room on the third floor at 1407 Franklin avenue, by Mrs. Mary Allison, who conducts the boarding house. He had ended his life by shooting himself in the right temple. A revolver lay near his right hand.

A note addressed to Maud Herschelman of Raymond, Ill., was found in the room. In it Herschelman asked her not to blame his relatives for their separation, saying it was all his fault. Two certificates of deposit in a Raymond (Ill.) bank aggregating $5000 were found in the room. Occupants of the rooming house told the police that Herschelman had told them that he owned a farm near Raymond, and that he had been ungenerally married. He had worked as a laborer at various places since he came to St. Louis a year ago.

GERMAN ALLIANCE FOR 8-HOUR LAW, BARTHOLDT BEATEN

Rappaport Resolution Urging National Labor Legislation Adopted by Big Majority.

BITTER SUFFRAGE DEBATE

Motion Urging German Women to Vote in Accordance With Alliance Lost.

Congressman Richard Bartholdt of St. Louis, arguing before the National German-American Alliance, in session at the Planters Hotel Tuesday, against a resolution demanding a national eight-hour day, old age pension and workmen's compensation laws, was opposed in debate by Philip Rappaport, an Indianapolis lawyer, and was voted down by the convention. The resolution favoring the proposed laws, introduced by Rappaport, was carried by a vote of 37 state delegations to 5.

A second bitter debate took place on the woman suffrage question. A resolution advocating that, in states which have woman suffrage, German women be urged to vote in accordance with the principles of the Alliance, was defeated by a vote of 17 states to 16.

First Resolution Voted Down. The debate on proposed industrial legislation took up the greater part of the morning session. The first resolution on the subject was introduced by the Massachusetts delegation, in which the Socialist and radical element is strong. It demanded national eight-hour day, old age pension and workmen's compensation laws, but couched the demand in what some of the delegates considered extreme language. It was voted down, and Rappaport then introduced, on behalf of the Indiana delegation, a resolution making the same demands, but in more moderate language.

Congressman Bartholdt then opposed the idea of placing such laws on the national statute books. The enforcement of such laws by the Federal Government would be difficult, he said, and the power to do so would be doubtful. Let the states pass such laws, he suggested, and if the states found such further laws were needed to supplement theirs, it would be time enough to appeal to Congress.

He also suggested that there were branches of the Government service in which the eight-hour day was not feasible, and said it would not do to have the Government in the position of violating its own laws.

Rappaport was Mr. Bartholdt's opponent. He is head of heart, he walked, he talked, he sang, and he sang near the Congressman, and said his ear trumpet near Bartholdt so that he could hear Bartholdt's replies. They discussed details for some minutes, both speaking loudly, and then Rappaport exclaimed, "You may have a great statement, but you are no lawyer." To this Bartholdt made no reply, the fact being that he never posed as a member of the legal profession.

The Indianapolis speaker explained his remark by saying that a number of states had passed industrial legislation, only to have it declared unconstitutional by state and Federal courts. For this reason, he said, Federal action was necessary. After he had made further passages at arms with Bartholdt, the resolution was carried.

Rappaport, who is a Socialist and an advocate of woman suffrage, and who was one of the lawyers in the dramatic conspiracy case, then deftly stirred a home's nest by introducing a resolution stating that no State Alliance should pass resolutions on the matter of large public policy until the national organization should have dealt with them. This was aimed at the Wisconsin Alliance, which lately passed a resolution against woman suffrage.

Missouri Gists Decline Vote. Dr. Leo Stern, Superintendent of Schools of Milwaukee, and an officer in the Wisconsin Alliance, voted down. A resolution was then introduced to the effect that, in states where women now have the ballot, German women be urged to vote, and to vote in support of the Alliance's resolutions.

A number of women spoke on this matter, a North Carolina delegate being especially vehement against it. Miss Stern's vote defeated the resolution, the vote being 11 against and 13 for its passage.

All the proceedings were in German. Banquet at Liederkreis Club. Delegates to the convention attended a banquet Monday night at the Liederkreis Club, Grand and Magnolia avenues. Mayor Kiel made an address of welcome.

The banquet followed an automobile trip in the afternoon in which the delegates rode through the downtown business section, the West End residence section, Tower Grove Park and Forest park and visited a brewery. No convention session was held in the afternoon.

Dr. Carl Barck was toastmaster at the banquet, being introduced by Chairman E. C. Busch of the executive board of the Festival Committee. A touch of military color was given to the event with the arrival from Jefferson Barracks of Col. J. H. Beeson, Maj. W. W. Griffith, Capt. A. M. Webb, Capt. F. H. Lomax, Lieut. F. J. Burr and Lieutenant-Colonel A. R. Donnelly, all in uniform. The military of St. Louis were given seats on the stage.

Addresses were made by Frederick W. Lohmann, Superintendent of the Liederkreis Club, Congressman Richard Bartholdt, Congressman L. C. Dyer, Dr. C. J. Rappaport of Philadelphia, Alfred Gieseler, German Consul at Chicago; Dr. Charles H. Weinberg and the Rev. J.

BOYS ARRESTED FOR TAKING AUTOMOBILE

Brothers, 16 and 19, Admit They Drove Off With William McIsank's Machine.

Francis Schreiner, 16 years old, and Olin Schreiner, 19, sons of Dr. Joseph G. Schreiner of 411 Tower Grove place, were arrested at 11 o'clock Monday night at their home, on the complaint of William McIsank, who told the police his automobile had been taken from in front of 411 Tower Grove place.

The youths admitted, the police say, that they took a joy ride in an automobile they saw standing in the street and abandoned the car in front of Forest Park Highlands, when it ran out of gasoline. They said they had visited the automobile show there, and returned home on the street car. The auto was recovered Tuesday by the police. Francis Schreiner was allowed to return home with his parents, but his brother was detained on a charge of taking an automobile without the permission of the owner.

McIsank, who is a salesman, went to the home of a Mr. Buehler, 411 Tower Grove place, grandfather of the youths, at 7 p. m. An hour later he found that his car was missing.

A sphinx for the Pennsylvania U. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—A sphinx carved from a solid block of red granite and weighing 12 tons arrived on the tramp steamer Scheldt from Suva for the collection of the University of Pennsylvania. The figure bears a likeness of the head of Ramses II and is the largest ancient Egyptian monument brought to this country except the obelisk, Cleopatra's needle.

EDWIN GOULD HERE
SEES COTTON BELT
MEN RE-ELECTED

After Directors Are Renamed He Presides as Officers Are Returned.

WIFE IS HERE WITH HIM

New York Opposition to Directors Doesn't Develop Great Strength.

Edwin Gould, chairman of the Board of Directors of the St. Louis Southwest (Cotton Belt) Railroad System, saw himself and his fellow directors re-elected by a nearly unanimous vote at the stockholders' annual meeting, held Tuesday at the company's offices in the Pierce Building. He then presided over the directors' meeting, at which President F. H. Britton and the other officers were re-elected.

In addition to the former officers, Nelson B. Burr of New York was elected a vice-president, and Paul J. Longueva was chosen assistant secretary, in the New York office.

Of the 365,000 shares of stock outstanding, 23,122 were voted in favor of the re-election of the directors. Lilburn G. McIsank of St. Louis, a large stockholder, made the motion by which the vote was declared unanimous.

By the same vote, the stockholders ratified the directors' action in leasing, for 3 years, the Paragould Southeastern, a 35-mile tap line in Arkansas. A $5,000,000 bond issue for this line was authorized, but officials stated after the meeting that it was the intention to limit the actual issue to $300,000. The proceeds of these bonds, it was said, will go to the Cotton Belt's treasury in reimbursement for money already spent on the improvement of the Paragould road. The Cotton Belt has owned most of its stock for several years.

New York dispatches, before the meeting, said there was opposition to the directors because of the reduction of the dividend from 5 to 4 per cent. This cut was made at the time when the directors voted to lease the Paragould road. The complaint, it was stated, centered in the New York brokerage office of John Muir & Co. The result showed that this opposition was not strong enough to affect the control of the road.

The directors are Chairman Gould, President Britton, Murray Carlsson and Tom Randolph of St. Louis; R. M. Galloway, A. J. Hemphill, Edward T. Jeffery, Winslow H. Pierce and William H. Taylor of New York.

The officers are: President, F. H. Britton; assistant general manager, C. W. Nelson, St. Louis; vice-presidents, William H. Taylor, Dave H. Morris and Nelson B. Burr of New York, and H. E. Farrell of St. Louis; secretary, A. J. Trussell, New York; assistants, Paul J. Longueva, New York, and George K. Warner (also treasurer), St. Louis; auditor, S. C. Johnson, St. Louis.

Mrs. Gould here, who is the second son of the late Jay Gould, was accompanied from New York to St. Louis by Mrs. Gould and Edwin Gould Jr., 30 years old, also by Vice-President Taylor, Vice-President and Mrs. Morris, and Ansel Phelps, a large stockholder. The party will make a tour of inspection over the Cotton Belt. Mrs. Morris, one of the party, was formerly Miss Alice Vandewater Shepard, daughter of Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, the former Margaret Vandewater.

Before the meeting Gould was seen by reporters at Hotel Jefferson.

He said the Cotton Belt had had a bad year, except in July, when it ran behind because of the failure of the Texas fruit crop. He said the road had expended on its St. Louis freight depot and terminals more than the $1,500,000 it had planned to spend, and that the expenditures on the East Side would amount to a half million.

Francis Bush's Work. Speaking of other roads, he praised President Bush's management of the Missouri Pacific. In whose organization his brother, George Gould, holds the position of chairman of the board. He said that Bush, by changing the Missouri Pacific finances from a deficit to $2,000,000 net profit, had done a remarkable work.

He predicted that the leading railroads would hereafter buy only steel passenger cars, and said the Cotton Belt had steel frame cars as one-fourth of its passenger car equipment.

The tender of the highway toll bridge over the Missouri River at St. Charles told the Marshal that seven men crossed the bridge in the automobile at 2:15 a. m. Tuesday. He said they appeared to be intoxicated. A tire was missing from one of the rear wheels and the machine was damaged.

RECORD VOTE AT JOPLIN

JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 7.—Despite a drizzling rain, the heaviest early morning vote ever recorded in Joplin was cast today when voters began balloting on the adoption of a new charter making Joplin a city of the second class, with the commission form of government. Springfield, which also is voting on the adoption of the commission form, recorded an early heavy vote. The polls will close at 7 o'clock tonight. Joplin and Springfield are the first cities in Missouri to vote on the commission form.

DAVIS' PLAN TO PUT
ZOO ON NORTH SIDE
MEETS OPPOSITION

Zoological Society Practically a Unit Against Taking Animals From Forest Park.

The Zoological Society is practically a unit in opposing Park Commissioner Davis' plan to locate the zoo on a hill tract near O'Fallon Park, according to the society's president, George E. Dieckman. Dieckman said Tuesday that he had received assurances that 23 of the 27 members of the House of Delegates, the Mayor and a majority of the City Council were in favor of retaining the zoo in Forest Park.

The society is trying to get the city to make a reservation of 65 acres in Forest Park. Davis favors buying 25 or 30 acres in the unimproved tract between O'Fallon Park and Bellefontaine Cemetery.

"Most of us are unable to see the force of Commissioner Davis' reasoning," Dieckman said. "In the first place, it is hard to understand why the city should be asked to buy more land for this purpose when it already has plenty, and, in the second place, why a place should be chosen that is vastly more inaccessible to the great majority of St. Louisans than the present location is."

Shade Required for Zoo. Dieckman said that a desirable location for a zoo must be where there is plenty of shade. The North Side location, he declared, hasn't sufficient shade, is rough and hilly and is more fitted for a dumping ground than anything else.

"Other cities have zoos in their most popular parks," he continued, "and if they find it advisable, why shouldn't St. Louis? Chicago's zoo is in Lincoln Park, New York's in Bronx Park, Kansas City's in Swope Park and Boston is setting aside part of one of its finest parks for a zoo."

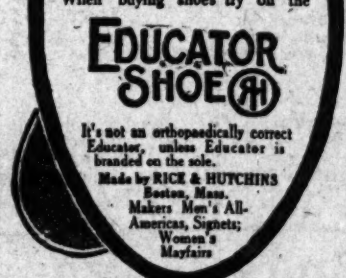

"We have set aside large tracts in Forest Park for golf links, tennis courts, picnic grounds and the like. Why not give space for the right kind of a zoo? I venture to say that more persons will derive enjoyment from a zoo in the course of a year than from all the public athletic grounds. Old people and children, who cannot possibly enjoy the golf links and tennis courts, can enjoy a zoo. And they ought not to be compelled to go to some remote, out-of-the-way place to enjoy it."

Says Zoo Won't Mar Park. "The zoo will neither destroy nor mar Forest Park. We shall not cut down any trees or shrubbery. We hope to remove the present unsightly shanties and replace them with small, attractive buildings. The bird cage and animal shelters have been in the park for nine years, and it is hard to understand why they should be removed now."

The present place is not inaccessible.

ble. The Market cars take one with in a short distance of it. It is close to the Art Museum and the school grounds. The crowds who have visited the zoo every Saturday and Sunday the last few months attest that the place is not difficult of access.

Efforts are being made to arrange a conference between Commissioner Davis and members of the Zoological Society for this week. Dieckman said the society will make every possible effort to win Davis over to its point of view.

The society is in favor of a commission to control the proposed reservation. The Mayor, Comptroller, Park Commissioner and two members of the society are suggested for the commission.

ROBBED OF $90 ON CAR BY PICKPOCKETS

Tennessee Also Loses Cashier's Check for $773—Thieves Get Two Other Purse.

Robert M. Hale of Knoxville, Tenn., riding on a Market car between Eighth and Fourteenth streets, about 3 p. m. Monday, was looted by a pair of pickpockets and robbed of $90 in currency and a cashier's check of the National Bank of Commerce for $773. Payment on the check was stopped Tuesday.

Pickpockets also robbed Max Bernstein, salesman, of 338 Thomas street, and James W. Ritter of 1714 North Taylor avenue, on Wednesday cars, about 5:30 p. m. Ritter lost a purse containing 99 cents and papers, in the 338 block on Easton avenue, the thief leaping from the car, and Bernstein lost $15, a purse and papers, near Jefferson and Franklin avenues.

STOMACH SICK, SOUR, UPSET AND FULL OF GAS—TRY PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, let this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered, you get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear. Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. Diapepsin is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different, as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Put an end to stomach trouble by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.—ADV.

Herzliches Willkommen den Besuchern zur deutschen Jahrhundert-Feier

Hearty welcome, visitors to the German Centennial celebration!

And a hearty welcome to all other visitors to this, the fairest city in the land!

The Jefferson Memorial, the Art Museum, Washington University and Shaw's Garden you should see, without fail.

And remember, too, that St. Louis' stores are one of its "prides."

THIS store invites you to be its guest. It is the "Leader," not only in name, in size and in volume of business, but also in HOSPITALITY.

We can and will be glad to make your visit a much happier one.

There are scores of conveniences here which were arranged to make visitors feel at home. Take advantage of them.

Welcome!

Announcement Extraordinary

As Announced by the Press, We Bought at the Trustee's Bankruptcy Auction Sale of the BOLLMAN BROS.

(1120 Olive Street)

Piano stock, every instrument, with the exception of a few that went to private individuals. The causes that necessitated the sacrifice of this immense stock of Pianos and Player-Pianos are too fresh in the public mind to require repetition. It is unfortunate that this splendid piano stock was forced to be discontinued, but their misfortune is your fortune, for it brings to you the most wonderful buying opportunities in high-grade instruments that have ever been known in St. Louis.

Wanted!

Experienced Piano Salesmen for the sale of the Bolzman Bros. Piano Stock. Apply between 10 and 12, this morning, in Piano Dept., Fourth Floor.

EVERY PIANO & PLAYER-PIANO

will be sold at the lowest price ever quoted to the consumer, and you can have the added advantage of our most liberal payment plan.

Watch for the Date of this Great Sale!

MAJOR WON'T CALL EXTRA SESSION ON SENATE PRIMARY

Governor Declares That the Legislation Candidates Desire Is Unnecessary.

Gov. Major told a Post-Dispatch reporter at Union Station, Tuesday, that under no circumstances would he call an extra session of the State Legislature, as demanded by Senator Stone and other Democratic leaders, to amend the State primary law, to provide for the nomination of candidates for United States Senator at the regular August primary.

The senatorial candidates can be nominated at the primary without any special legislation on the subject, according to the Governor, who says that the existing senatorial primary law, even if constitutional, is vitiated by the new Federal constitutional amendment requiring the election of Senators by direct vote.

Liberal Interpretation. The Governor was asked if the State primary law, says the Governor, "then nomination of State officers only and omits any reference to candidates for United States Senator, a Federal office." "Under a liberal interpretation of our primary law," says the Governor, there is no doubt the senatorial candidates covered by its provisions. When the Federal amendment making Senators elective by popular vote was ratified, the primary statute, so far as Senators were concerned, undoubtedly became effective.

"I do not see how there can be any dispute about this matter. Certainly there has never been any doubt in my mind about it. The extra session would be expensive and unnecessary."

Attorney Lehmann's Opinion. Henry W. Kortjohn, former Election Commissioner and an expert on primary legislation; Chairman John W. Drabell of the Board of Election Commissioners, and Attorney Frederick W. Lehman, agree with Gov. Major that the election of the Federal amendment completely nullifies the U. S. senatorial primary law.

Whether the State primary law governing the nomination of State officers and Congressmen is applicable to the candidates for United States Senator is a question, Lehmann says, to which he has given no consideration. "The existing statute under which the senatorial candidates of each party are chosen at the general election," he added, "provides for the election of the nominee of the successful party at the succeeding session of the Legislature. Now, the Federal amendment having provided for the direct election of senators, the power of the Legislature to elect is taken away and the State law on the subject must give way to the Federal constitutional provision."

Attorney Kortjohn called attention to the opening paragraph of the senatorial primary statute, which reads: "Section 628. At each general election held in the State of Missouri, at which a Legislature is chosen, whose duty it shall be to elect a United States Senator, according to the laws and constitution of the State, the names of the candidates of each political party for said office of United States Senator shall be placed upon the ballots of the political party to which the candidate belongs, of the several political parties, and be voted on at said general election."

Kortjohn's Opinion. "With the legislative powers abrogated by the new Federal amendment," said Kortjohn, "I don't see how that statute could have any force."

"Section 585 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri, introducing the primary law, says: 'Hereafter all candidates for elective offices shall be nominated by a primary election held in accordance with this article.'"

"It is further provided that the State primary law shall not apply to special elections to fill vacancies, nor to county superintendents of schools, to city officers not elected at a general State election, to town, village or school district officers."

"Analysis of this provision shows that no Federal elective officer, such as that of United States Senator or Congressman, is subject to its provisions, why not a United States Senator?"

"I am inclined to think the Governor is right about this matter and that no extra session is necessary for the purpose of amending the State primary law."

"It is the duty of the Secretary of State to certify to the county clerks and the Board of Election Commissioners in St. Louis, the titles of all officers to be voted on at the primary. If this certification includes the office of United States Senator, it seems to me the proceeding will be entirely regular."

Heirs on Major's Judgment. Commissioner Drabell said: "The validity of the Senatorial primary was questioned prior to the enactment of the Federal amendment making Senators elective by direct vote. It was disputed because it sought to infringe on the constitutional powers of the Legislature."

"However, the statute was considered morally binding. No doubt there is some question as to whether the State primary law will cover nomination for United States Senator. As it includes the nominees for Congress, I should say that it applies to the senatorial nomination contest."

"Gov. Major, from what I have read, has investigated the legal aspects of the matter, and I am willing to rest on his judgment."

MAN WHO SHOTS GIRL SAVED FROM NEW YORK MOB

Fatally Wounds Child at Entrance to Theater—Tells Rambling Story.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—After shooting and mortally wounding 13-year-old Dora Strabits of 690 Third avenue, in front of her father's moving picture theater at that address, Benjamin Roy Spurgeon, of 4 Livingston street, who says he comes from St. Louis where he was a printer, was saved from lynching by the pluck of Detective Daniel Clare and the timely arrival of the reserves.

Dora, with Ida Goldberg, 16, was standing at the entrance to the theater, chatting with the cashier at 8 o'clock. Spurgeon, who was walking past, suddenly stopped, turned toward the three girls and began to shoot with a revolver. The first bullet struck Dora in the left shoulder, the second above the hip and she fell. The man threw his revolver to the pavement and ran up the avenue, pursued by a throng of persons from the theater.

Detective Clare was on a surface car, and saw the hunted man running to ward him. He leaped off and seized the fugitive. The next moment the detective and his prisoner were surrounded by a mob, which tried to drag apart the detective and his captive.

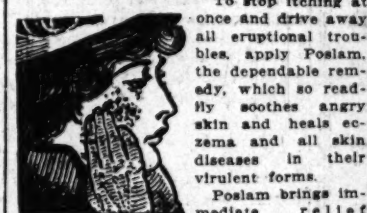

The reserves marched the prisoner back to the theater, and upstairs, where the wounded girl was awaiting an ambulance. She said she didn't know Spurgeon. Other girls had seen the man loitering in the neighborhood.

Spurgeon said he was 27 years old. He was ragged, and apparently half-starved. In his pockets the police found a cartridge and a diary, in which were allusions to the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, murderer of Avis Linnell; to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and to Lillian Russell, and a memorandum of St. James, L. I., where the country home of the late Mayor Gaynor is, as well as 90 Eighth avenue, Brooklyn, where Gaynor's city home. The prisoner told a rambling story of fancied wrongs Dora Strabits had done him.

TIM WOODRUFF WORSE

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The illness of former Lieutenant-Governor Timothy I. Woodruff has taken a serious turn. Reports that Woodruff has been in a comatose state 48 hours were denied by his physicians. They said that he had been unconscious for a time, but had been revived. From an authoritative source it was learned Woodruff was unconscious 30 hours, but became conscious early last evening.

The Globe-Wernicke unit principle of construction applied to the interior of a Steel Portable Vault—this in brief describes to the business man the significance of the term

"Globe Cabinet Safes"

Just as easily as Globe-Wernicke cabinets are built up without the use of any tools, by adding a unit at a time, so is the interior of a Globe Cabinet Safe arranged with self-adjusting shelves and units providing all the conveniences of a cabinet, plus the protection of a steel vault.

Not only is it possible to arrange and rearrange the interior of a Globe Cabinet Safe according to your liking, with just the proper number and size of compartments wanted—shelves that automatically snap into place—filing cabinet units for cards, records, letters, contracts, documents of all sizes—but the Safe itself is so constructed that you can easily roll it around—locate it exactly where wanted—without incurring any of the expense and trouble ordinarily required to move the old-time safe, because of its cumbersome bulk.

Hooray! Blood Free of Impurities

Eczema Gone! Acne, Tetters, Rash, Pimples, Carbuncles, Boils—Banished.

It is certainly remarkable how quickly the action of S. S. S. the famous blood purifier, shows itself in the skin.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which peculiarly stimulates cellular or glandular activity to select from the blood, or from the fine network of blood vessels in the skin, those elements which it requires for regeneration.

Thus pimples, acne, eczema, lupus, or any other blood condition that attacks the skin or seeks an outlet through the skin is met with the antidotal effect of S. S. S.

This is why skin troubles vanish so readily and why they do not return. Under the influence of S. S. S. this fine network of blood vessels in the skin is constantly selecting from the blood the nutrition required for healthy tissue, and the cause of disease is just as constantly being removed, scattered and rendered harmless.

It is a great mistake to rely upon cathartics to cure pimples or other facial eruptions. Not only do cathartics cause chronic constipation, but they thin the blood of its valuable and essential preservatives.

You will be surprised and delighted at the quick change if you will use S. S. S. the famous blood purifier. Its action in the skin is quite sensational. These facts are most fully explained in a book on skin troubles sent by the Swift Specific Co., 215 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. Get a bottle today and banish all skin ailments.

When you ask for S. S. S. look out for the common trick of trying to sell you something else. Don't be misled.

The Want Ads today are a record of how others are making use of publicity to live happier in filling home and business needs. This record may contain ideas of value to you. The wording of these Want Ads will be useful in writing required may find necessary.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."
Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasal discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lie awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dripping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless. Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. ADV.

MAN OF THE WOODS
LEAVES FOREST IN
PERFECT HEALTH

Boston Artist, Who Entered
Wilds of Maine Nude, Returns Fully-Clothed.

BEGAN TEST ON AUG. 14

Had Plenty to Eat, but Missed
Salt First Few Weeks—
Lost 30 Pounds.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Joseph Knowles, the Boston artist, after two months' fight for existence in the forests of Maine, is speeding back to civilization. Reporters met him on his way home.

Knowles' actual exit from the woods was made at a point 14 miles south of the forest. He was in the Canadian Pacific Railroad tracks. Clad in rudely dressed skins of black bear and deer, and carrying in a pack on his back a fire machine and other tools he had fashioned to aid him in living in a primitive way. Knowles looked like a cave man. Thus ended a test of hardihood and endurance, of skill in conquering a hostile environment.

On Aug. 4, Knowles plunged into the forest near Spencer Lake, in Somerset County, Maine. He was naked. He had no weapons, no tools or implements of any kind, no food. He promised to come out of the woods on Oct. 4, fully clad and in good health and physical condition. He has kept his promise in every detail.

Knowles is in good physical condition despite the fact that his final weight in the forest was a test of endurance that was completely unforseen and equally unnecessary. In his dread that the game warden of Somerset County might seek him in his forest lair and bring his struggles to a close, he had been forced to leave the game laws, he left his domain near Spencer Lake and struck out across the untracked wilderness, 70 miles, for the boundary mountains of Canada, overlooking Lake Megantic. He traversed 70 miles of the wildest country.

He has lost 30 pounds of weight in the two months, dropping from 240 pounds to 210. His appearance clearly tells the tale of the hardships he has undergone. From head to heel, he is scratched and bruised by the briars and underbrush in which he has lived for 60 days. He is tanned almost black.

Over his neck and arms was a black bear skin, heavily fringed with the hair of deer skin. His trousers were of deer skin, made Indian fashion, with the hair inside. His feet were encased in moccasins of buckskin, sewed with sinew. He wore no hat, no sleeves, no underwear.

He made bow and knife. On his back was a knapsack of woven bark. It was filled with trophies from the forest. Slung over his arm were bows and arrows. Sheathed in buckskin a crude knife of horn hung from his belt.

Miss Frenchie Gerard of Lake Megantic, a 14-year-old child of the woods, was the first person to greet him. She had wandered far out of camp, and then she stopped suddenly, and then she saw him. Walking toward her with long, swinging strides, came a creature of fur, a different animal than she had ever seen before. She did not run, for she afterward explained, she thought, was a strange man, in spite of the fact that in the distance the figure appeared like a great bear.

When he reached Megantic, Knowles received a big reception. He went to a hotel. The first thing he did was to remove his bear skin covering. Then he saw the bed.

"A bed—a real bed! Let's see how it feels!" he said, and threw himself full length upon the mattress.

"How are you feeling?" asked a reporter.

"Never felt better in my life. Say, is there a cigarette around here?" he said quickly, and in a moment Knowles, stretched out and comfortable, stripped to the waist, was literally devouring his first smoke for many weeks.

As a game warden yesterday, he said: "nothing much since."

"Are you hungry?"

"Not a bit." However, Dr. Gregory, who happened to come into the room a moment later with the Mayor and the Maine and Canadian game wardens, prescribed a glass of milk, which Knowles drank with great relish.

because I did not dare to strike the roads, for fear of being seen before time. Then from up in the mountains I heard a wonderful thing. I heard the whistle of a train. I pressed toward it and finally came to the railroad tracks. Someone told me later it was a little after 4 o'clock."

When questioned about salt, he said he missed it very much for the first few weeks, but after that he never thought about it. When asked what he would have to eat he ordered fried salt pork and potatoes.

Home-making is always a success where "Buck's" Stoves and Ranges are used.

At Same Time Trustees Announce $2500 Gift From
C. H. Mackay.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Announcement was made by the board of trustees of Columbia University that Dr. Joseph A. Blake has resigned as professor in the department of surgery. Dr. Blake recently was mentioned in a suit started by his wife against Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay for alienation of affections.

The board announced that among many gifts to the university is one of $2500 from Clarence H. Mackay, to be used for research work by the department of surgery.

Friends of Dr. Blake asserted there was no connection between his resignation and Mackay's donation. They said the doctor had long contemplated dropping out of the university and returning to private practice.

MAN KILLED BY A TRAIN Police Unable to Identify Him
by Names in Pocket.

Coroner Jacoby of Alton notified the police here, Tuesday, that a man had been killed by a train at Alton, early Tuesday morning. A card found in the man's pocket bore the memorandum, "City Hospital, St. Louis, James David, No. 58929," and on a slip of paper was written: "In case of my death notify A. J. Gutwiler, 2800 Walnut street, St. Louis."

The police were unable to find anyone at the Walnut street address who had ever heard either of Davis or Gutwiler, and at the city hospital there was no record of James Davis.

TEACHER WEDS A PUPIL
Business College Man Keeps It
Secret Five Days.

B. E. Hinkle, 28 years old, head of the bookkeeping department of the Brown Business College, and Miss Katherine A. Tine of 129 North Sprague avenue, who last week completed a course in stenography at the school, were married last Thursday at Peoria, Ill. They returned to St. Louis and did not tell their friends of the marriage.

The secret was revealed Tuesday, and when Hinkle arrived at the school after the noon recess he was greeted by a shower of rice from the students.

This Iowa Woman
Finally Rejoices

Mrs. Alice Beard of 625 South 4th, Keokuk, Says She Is Cured Without an Operation.

Below is an article written by Mrs. Alice Beard, telling how she had doctored, and many said she would have to be operated upon. Now says she is well.

"I had been doctored for over eight years with seven different doctors. They all said they would have to operate on me to do any good. Now I have doctored with the medical expert about one month, and without an operation of any kind, I have received more good from him than with all the others in the eight years. I want my friends to know of my improvement, as you may publish it if you wish."

MRS. ALICE BEARD.

This shows the rapid results given by Dr. W. B. Elasto-Reduso, the great medical expert—not alone in isolated cases, but diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder, stomach, piles, nervousness, heart palpitation and many chronic diseases of years' standing. All his time is devoted to this line of work. This is why he is able to cure you. Dr. Wells is not a traveling doctor, but a permanent resident of St. Louis, and has his home here, and has taken a long time on his line of office at 618A Locust street. The hours are from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Saturday evenings from 7 to 9. Sundays from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. only. No charge for examination.

MAN OF THE WOODS
LEAVES FOREST IN
PERFECT HEALTH

Boston Artist, Who Entered
Wilds of Maine Nude, Returns Fully-Clothed.

BEGAN TEST ON AUG. 14

Had Plenty to Eat, but Missed
Salt First Few Weeks—
Lost 30 Pounds.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Joseph Knowles, the Boston artist, after two months' fight for existence in the forests of Maine, is speeding back to civilization. Reporters met him on his way home.

Knowles' actual exit from the woods was made at a point 14 miles south of the forest. He was in the Canadian Pacific Railroad tracks. Clad in rudely dressed skins of black bear and deer, and carrying in a pack on his back a fire machine and other tools he had fashioned to aid him in living in a primitive way. Knowles looked like a cave man. Thus ended a test of hardihood and endurance, of skill in conquering a hostile environment.

On Aug. 4, Knowles plunged into the forest near Spencer Lake, in Somerset County, Maine. He was naked. He had no weapons, no tools or implements of any kind, no food. He promised to come out of the woods on Oct. 4, fully clad and in good health and physical condition. He has kept his promise in every detail.

Knowles is in good physical condition despite the fact that his final weight in the forest was a test of endurance that was completely unforseen and equally unnecessary. In his dread that the game warden of Somerset County might seek him in his forest lair and bring his struggles to a close, he had been forced to leave the game laws, he left his domain near Spencer Lake and struck out across the untracked wilderness, 70 miles, for the boundary mountains of Canada, overlooking Lake Megantic. He traversed 70 miles of the wildest country.

He has lost 30 pounds of weight in the two months, dropping from 240 pounds to 210. His appearance clearly tells the tale of the hardships he has undergone. From head to heel, he is scratched and bruised by the briars and underbrush in which he has lived for 60 days. He is tanned almost black.

VANDERBILT COOK PUPIL
IN ST. REGIS' KITCHEN

Maid Is Trying to Learn How Chef Prepares Each Dish, Especially Individual Orders.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—M. Bailly, chef of the St. Regis, who made a trip to Europe last summer to learn

if there was anything new under or over a range that he didn't know, has a star pupil in his establishment. The pupil is Mrs. French Vanderbilt's cook.

What the name of Mrs. Vanderbilt's cook is nobody at the desk of the hotel seemed to know, and ignorance was professed of her being in the establishment. Nevertheless it was established that the cook, while at M. Bailly's feet, is trying to learn how he makes the foods he turns out and his method of preparing each dish, especially for the individual orders. For fully three weeks she has been going to school in the St. Regis kitchen.

WILSON'S TRUST
POLICY TO CURE
WITHOUT KILLING

Attempt to Be Made to Solve
Problem With the Least
Amount of Court Action.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The policy adopted by the administration toward the trusts, is, it was learned today by the Post-Dispatch representative, as follows:

A strict enforcement of the criminal and civil sections of the Sherman law.

Efforts to cure existing evils and prevent them in the future without destroying business.

When this can be done without resort to the law or equity courts,
the Attorney-General will follow that course.

Where it cannot be done without litigation, there will be, if there is any question regarding the outcome of criminal action, a civil suit; if social, criminal action against individual officers of the corporation will follow.

Where the Department of Justice finds a clear case of violation of the Sherman law, and the existing evil can be cured while individual punishment is meted out, criminal action will precede civil action.

The contemplated action in equity against the New Haven road shows the attitude of the Government. Civil suit will be filed against the road, according to the present intention, in the United States Circuit Court in the southern district of New York at New York City, probably next week. The reason the Department of Justice has decided not to proceed criminally against the officials of the New Haven at once is that the civil case of the New Haven is involved.

New Haven Problem.

While the Government is sure that the Sherman law has been violated, it is not certain how the courts will regard a wholesale breaking up of the combination and on just what points they will sustain the contentions of the Government. This attitude is due to the nature of the holding in the New Haven monopoly, most of which are scattered throughout New England among women and children and estates.

There is further belief among officials that President Elliott of the New Haven ought to receive some encouragement in his efforts to untangle the road's finances and get the system on a paying basis.

If, however, the civil suit is successful there will be criminal actions later.

Charles E. McReynolds, the former president of the New Haven and now one of the advisers to directors, has not immune himself from prosecution under the criminal section of the Sherman law just because he resigned the active management of the road. According to officials of the Department of Justice, he may be prosecuted criminally for his past acts.

It was learned that the Department of Justice will outmaneuver any legitimate steps taken by the managers of the New Haven road to effect its dissolution without resort to the law of the equity courts. This became known after it was reported that President Elliott had indicated he would take up this question with the Department of Justice.

Attorney-General McReynolds said he had not received any word from Elliott, but the department would listen to such proposals, and if the New Haven agreed to its demands no suit would be necessary.

Stronger Sherman Law.

The administration, and particularly the President and the Attorney-General, is desirous of strengthening the Sherman law by legislation which is termed "supplemental."

The administration wants Congress to enact legislation which shall remove from the Sherman law the "rule of reason," which the Supreme Court found in the law in the Tobacco and Standard Oil cases, and which, at the time, did not meet with the approval of either President Taft or Attorney-General Wickard.

Both acquiesced because of their loyalty to the source and because of the attacks which were being made on the judiciary at that time. It is not the intention of the Wilson administration to criticize the Court, nor to have Congress reopen the oil and tobacco cases,
but the President and the Attorney-General, according to high authority, will ask Congress to make it mandatory on the courts to order a dissolution which will not be restricted, as it is claimed by Attorney-General McReynolds the decrees in the oil and tobacco cases were.

The administration does not believe that a corporation can be dissolved under the plans accepted by the courts in the case of the Standard Oil and Tobacco Trusts.

Until this supplemental legislation is obtained the Department of Justice will vigorously enforce the Sherman law as it now stands and has been interpreted by the Supreme Court.

Jewelers' Combines Case.

The department indicated, in the acceptance of the proposals made by the seal in the wholesale and jobbing jewelers' case, that there is a willingness to meet big business half way in its demands. Last March the United States Attorney obtained indictments against the officials of this combine in New York. At the same time a civil suit was prepared.

Then the attorneys for the jewelers came to Washington, saw the Attorney-General and the civil action was suspended. It was dropped later when the counsel for the jewelers accepted the demands of the Department of Justice for a cessation of the alleged conspiracy with which the defendants were charged. A decree has been prepared and will be filed in the Federal Court at New York City within a few days.
The same policy will, it is said, be followed in other cases.

ALWAYS good, and good always, are
"BUCKLE" Stoves and Ranges.

THREE MEN BIND
COOK, THEN ROB
AND ASSAULT HIM

A. A. Ernest Staggered Into Dispensary With Nose Broken, Jaw Swollen and Face
Discolored.

Anthony A. Ernest, a cook, 22 years old, entered the City Dispensary early Tuesday with his nose broken, his eye discolored and his jaw swollen, and told a story of having been robbed, bound and left beside an interurban track, between Eagle Park and Granite City Monday night.

He said he met, at Twenty-second and Market streets Monday afternoon, a man who introduced himself as "Bob,"
who persuaded him to buy several drinks for both, and who took him to a house on Chestnut street, near Nineteenth.
There he met another man and two women, and after several drinks, a journey to the East Side was proposed. He paid the fare, spent nearly $10 in entertaining the party, he said.

Ernest said that at Eagle Park another man joined the party, and that after leaving the place about 9 o'clock
the three men suddenly attacked him, beat him and took $20 cents, his cuff buttons and his knife. While the women looked on. All expressed disgust, he said, at having found so little, and he was further beaten, then bound and gagged.

STOP CATARRH!

Unless Properly Treated With Hymel This Disease May Become Serious.

If you have catarrh, usually indicated by sniffling, stopped up head, droppings in throat, watery eyes,
and morning choking, there is an irritated state of the mucous membrane which affords an ideal condition for the growth of disease germs, especially those of consumption.

Do not allow the dangerous germs which may be breathed into the throat and lungs to begin their work of destruction.

The easiest, simplest, quickest, surest and cheapest way to check catarrh is by the direct method, breathing Hymel. This wonderful medicated air treatment does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed in through the Hymel inhaler, directly following and surely destroying all disease germs that may have been inhaled—kills and vitalizes the tissues of the throat, nose and lungs so as to effectively render catarrh infections no longer possible.

The unusual way in which Hymel is sold is the best evidence of confidence in the treatment, and dispels all doubts as to its curative properties. Money refunded to anyone whom Hymel fails to benefit. A complete outfit, including inhaler and bottle of liquid, costs but $1.00.
Extra bottles of liquid, if later needed, 50 cents. Druggists everywhere sell Hymel—ADV.

Browns and Cardinals Work Up Interest Over Money Split in Annual Fall Series.

Most of His Pitchers Are on the Shelf While Shotton Is Out of It With Bad Leg.

LOCAL GAME IS OFF

RAIN prevented the inaugural game of the local fall series between the Browns and Cardinals, scheduled at Robison Field Tuesday afternoon. The postponement was made that the teams would meet at Robison Field Wednesday, starting at 8 o'clock.

By Clarence F. Lloyd

A line of several thousand eager fans was not in evidence in the vicinity of Vandeventer and Natural Bridge avenue Tuesday morning, despite the fact that the Browns and Cardinals were booked to meet in the opening tilt of the Updeau Championship of the World. Not even Kenneth, President of the Cardinals, was present. The Cardinals were interested in the extent of 50 per cent of the receipts. Whether the difference in the winners' and losers' share would amount to 50 cents or six bits, no one would venture an opinion.

Managers Huggins and McGraw seemed the only ones concerned. The players were interested in the extent of 50 per cent of the receipts. Whether the difference in the winners' and losers' share would amount to 50 cents or six bits, no one would venture an opinion.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Oh, Oh, Delphine!

THE ladies of the committee in charge of the disposing of the automobile given in appreciation of the most "valuable baseball player" in the American League, ought to spend two or three weeks reproaching themselves with the fact that they made one of the most unjust votes ever registered.

If the award means anything more than a mere token of honor, to be given a different person each season, the committee will have to sit up nights apologizing to itself.

For example: How in the name of things can the committee recognize themselves to the fact that Bert Shotton and George Stovall of the Browns, received two more points in the vote than the greatest player in the world, Ty Cobb?

Not an Award of Merit.

THE award only goes to emphasize the fact that the title is a mere complimentary gift to be circulated among the best performers in the League. If it were, as it was intended to be, a recognition of the one best effort, Ty Cobb would have received it this year, just as he should have received it last season. Joe Jackson was awarded second honors, for what reason cannot be observed with a microscope. Cobb, best him doing everything, as he has always done, and as he did Speaker, who was given the prize last season.

Of course, we outsiders should worry. But we do protest against giving with the automobile prize the title of the "best player in baseball."

The donation has descended to the point where it is a mere trophy of vanity, not an expert estimate of value.

Johnson Gets His.

AS was expected, the National Commission and Dan Johnson in particular, backed down from the stand against the player-writers of the world's series. There was and can be no authority on the part of the National Commission in a matter of purely personal liberty.

Any endeavor to enforce such a ruling would merely serve to make more plain the fact that baseball players are the merest chattels of the men who promote the game, and to call attention to one of the many evils of the game.

And that Jeanette himself feels this is evident from the repeated clenching in which he indulged. Langford in shape would undoubtedly have made quick work of the 23-year-old Joseph, even though the latter is the champion swimmer of the world.

Langford, who is only 27 years old, is the greatest fighter, white or black, in the world. If he takes care of himself he will not only win the title from Johnson in France next December, but will be able to defend it successfully for many years, despite the Behemoth Morris, Willard, et al.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO READERS OF SPORT SALAD.

OUR friend the Velled Prophet has loosened up at last and will announce the winner of the world's series, Tuesday night. He will do it in this way: While passing the corner of Grand and Olive going north if the Giants are to be winners he will hold up the index finger of his right hand. If the Athletics are to come out on top he will hold up the thumb and wiggle the little finger of his left hand.

The National Commission seem to have lost control. One word from the "Com-mish" makes a ball player do just as he darn please.

In the scramble for the automobile Ty Cobb was among those present.

If it weren't for the triteness of the thing we'd be tempted to say the stage is set and the curtain will roll up on the world's series today. As it is, we'll refrain from saying anything about it.

This will be the Velled Prophet's thirty-sixth year in the big league during which time he has never prophesied under $50.

Ty Cobb thinks the Giants have the edge in the coming series. If they run up against Frank Baker's bat with that edge game is liable to get hot.

At the prospect of a clash between the Browns and Cards even the heavens weep.

PAPKE AND ROWAN TO BE STARS AT NEXT LOCAL BOUT

Manager Sullivan Offers 30 Rounds of Boxing to Future City A. C. Members Tuesday.

Thirty rounds of boxing will be offered to members of the Future City A. C. next Tuesday, when the static tilt will be tried off again. Manager Tommy Sullivan announces Billy Papke, former middleweight champion, and Marty Rowan as the contestants in the big show. They are billed to go eight rounds at 125 pounds, the middleweight limit.

John Kern, the fighting bank clerk, draws a position in the semi-windup. His opponent will be George Conch, a newcomer in the list of local glove wielders. He hails from the Northwest, where as an amateur he gained a reputation as a knockout of most of his rivals. They will mix in an eight-round bout at 125 pounds.

Archie McLeod and Battling Hoffman, who won their respective bouts via the knockout route at the last Future City A. C. show, will come together in one of the preliminaries. McLeod disposed of Eddie Daley and Hoffman of Billy Lettrel on the chin in the last show. These hard-hitting bantys are expected to make the fur fly.

The curtain-raiser, a six-round affair, will be between Young Foley and Jack Manning, at 105 pounds.

JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE.

JUST before the battle, Matty, I am thinking most of you; While upon the field we're watching With the enemy in view.

It will be some battle, Matty, And the going will be tough; Will some comrade, in the crisis, Make a thousand dollar muff?

World's Series Managers Afraid to Attempt the Unexpected in Championship Contests

Players Will Not Take Customary Chances

Matty and Bender Probable Pitchers for Opening Game of Championship Today.

By Hugh Jennings

Manager of the Detroit Tigers, Copyright, 1913, by Hugh Jennings, NEW YORK, Oct. 7.

STIMMING up the chances of the two teams that will clash for the world's baseball title which begins today at the Polo Grounds, it will be seen that the Giants have the bulge on the Athletics in the pitching and catching departments, with the advantage in base running.

The Mack machine is stronger at the initial sack and third base, and outclasses the National League champions at the bat. It is an equal break in the outfield.

Every world's series that I have attended or been connected with has been somewhat of a disappointment to me. From a playing standpoint only ordinary plays are attempted. The unexpected is seldom tried.

The players in a big series are afraid to pull off any unusual plays. Each manager seems to think the scoring of one run will mean the winning of the game, just as he feels the winner of the first game will prove the winner of the series.

The players, as a general rule, take the game too seriously. They seem to be afraid to take a chance on plays they have accomplished many times during the championship season. Some of them devote more thought to the financial end of the game and fear that an error or failure to hit the ball at the opportune time may be the cause of the team being on the small end of the split.

The Giants have a good chance to win from the Athletics in the coming series. McGraw's team has been fortunate in being on the wrong end of the break in their last two world series—in 1911 against the Athletics, and last year against the Boston Red Sox. The Giants may be favored with the luck of the game in this meeting and the breaks may be an important factor in a short series.

Matty Unfortunate in 1912.

Christy Mathewson was unfortunate last year against the Red Sox, and the breaks of the world's series against the Red Sox defeated him and gave the Hns team the title. The "old master" never pitched better ball than he did against the Red Sox, and if Matty hurries as well as he did against the Athletics, he will find it mighty hard to beat him.

From all indications it appears that the "Old Master" and his rival, Big Chief Bender, will hook up in the first game.

Matty is ready to fire the opening gun and so is the famous redskin. If Matty is not seen on the firing line in the first combat, then "Big Jeff" Tesreau will probably have the honor of hurling the opener for the Giants. Jeff can stand plenty of work and, if he is successful in downing the White Elephant McGraw will send him back for the third game.

Mack will use Bender in the first and Plank will hurl the second. It all depends on the outcome of the first game whether Conale will use any of his young pitchers. If the Athletics win one of the two then the wizard may decide to send Carroll Brown against the Giants in the third game. There was a rumor recently that a bunch of New York gamblers had bought Chief Bender and that they were betting on the Giants to beat the Athletics. Twenty-five thousand dollars was the sum supposed to have been paid the gambler.

Johnny Kilbane Arrested.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7.—Johnny Kilbane, champion featherweight, was released on a $500 bond last night, following his arrest on a charge of assaulting Charles Chambers, 11 years old. The Chambers boy's mother caused the arrest, alleging that Kilbane "beat up" her son. Kilbane denied the charge and left for New York, where he will box tonight.

Charles Peterson Leads Cutler.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Charles Peterson of St. Louis won the first block of his 50-point three-cushion-carom match from Albert G. Cutler of Boston last night, 30-27. Peterson made runs of 5 and 4. The second block will be played at Doyle's tonight.

Trendall May Meet Glibert.

Trendall, by the way, is eager to get a bout, and Tommy Sullivan is trying to book the "Pride of the Patch" with Al Glibert, at the Casino. Trendall has been taken under the wing of Haines Stuart, who is a former manager. Trendall is willing to show the pair Oct. 31, if the Columbus club doesn't put on a show, or the week after.

BRITONS DEMAND TOO MUCH MONEY TO PERFORM HERE

Local Golf Clubs Refuse to Pay Ray and Vardon $500 for Exhibition in St. Louis.

Plans to have Ed Ray and Harry Vardon, the famed English golfers, perform in St. Louis have fallen through because no club cared to appropriate the sum demanded by the Britons. They are barnstorming the United States, following their defeat by Francis Ouimet, and wanted something like $500 in salary and expenses to appear here.

The Bellevue, Glen Echo and Country clubs each tried to negotiate with the Britons. None of the clubs wanted to foot the entire bill and an effort to have three or four of the clubs to finance the trip of the men here failed.

With Harry Potter of the Country Club tagged as the city's golf champion, the tournament to determine St. Louis' best golfer will begin on Saturday. The City Club's links meet Monday. It is said that efforts are being made to have the 1913 entry list total the greatest that has ever been received for a like event.

The Midland Valley Club members are making a lot of noise about their first annual club tournament, which begins next Saturday. The baby number of St. Louis golf clubs doesn't include any city, State or national championships, but hosts of some mediocre players. Among the Midland Valley members who qualified in the recent city championship were Harry Shaver, Richard Taylor and E. C. Sullivan. These men, as well as Messrs. Carter, Fay, Fletcher, Bowman, Mangal and Dubois, will head the entry list.

Mitchellburg Eleven to Play Penn.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7.—The football team of Mitchellburg College, Allentown, which had Lafayette as a 7-2 tie, and defeated New York University, 54 to 0, this season, has volunteered to take Swarthmore's place on the Pennsylvania schedule. Swarthmore is unable to play next Saturday.

Fletcher Is Relied On.

Art Fletcher, the shortstop of the Giants, is a much improved player and McGraw expects him to be a prominent factor in defeating the Athletics for the title. Art's playing has been sensational all season and already the newspapers are picking him to wear Wagner's crown as king of shortstops. Fletcher has also picked up in his batting and is now considered one of the best hitters on the New York team.

There may be a shift in the outfield of both teams. Fred Snodgrass is suffering from "charley horse." If Snodgrass is not in good condition, McGraw will send Tully Shaffer to the outfield and Charles Lincoln Herzog, the canteleque king, again will be stationed at third base. Herzog played brilliantly in the series against the Red Sox and made more hits than any other member of the Giants. Herzog also fished in splendid style and surprised many of the Boston experts by his great playing and batting.

Trendall May Meet Glibert.

Trendall, by the way, is eager to get a bout, and Tommy Sullivan is trying to book the "Pride of the Patch" with Al Glibert, at the Casino. Trendall has been taken under the wing of Haines Stuart, who is a former manager. Trendall is willing to show the pair Oct. 31, if the Columbus club doesn't put on a show, or the week after.

This range meets the price idea of the vast majority of men, but the Suits we show give a considerable excess value of what men usually expect at these figures. In these garments we court the most careful inspection & critical comparison with what other stores may have to offer. Measured point for point, these clothes show many points of superiority. More attractive style, superior tailoring & materials that are found elsewhere only in higher priced garments.

Tailored distinction & personality are thoroughly imbued into these superb Suits. Newest English, semi-English & conservative models, with two or three button coats, English straight cut or semi-peg & the full-peg trousers, afford pleasing selection for men of clothes preferences. The newest patterns in imported & domestic chevots, cassimeres & worsteds, in shades that are most favored, are shown in incomparable diversity of patterns—values the equal of which are not to be had elsewhere, at

Barring rain—and the official forecast says there will be no rain—tonight's V. P. parade will be in a number of ways, the most brilliant that St. Louis has seen in the Prophet's 44 years of annual visits.

The ball at the Coliseum, which follows the street pageant, is not dependent on the weather, and will take place even though it should rain. The audience and the weather man are the only ones who can control the weather.

His conviction, based on dispassionate study of the elements, was that the clouds would clear gradually during the day, after the morning downpour, leaving the evening clear and cooler than the past three evenings have been.

If, after all has been said and done,
there should be rain, a herald will ride over the line of the parade, announce a postponement of the parade until Wednesday evening. Such a postponement has been necessary but twice in the history of the Prophet's visits.

Three-hour parade.
Beginning at 6:45 p. m., the parade will move through the streets for three hours. For the first time, the parade will be lighted throughout. The only vires, but the musicians' caps will bear incandescent lamps run by storage batteries, and the standards announcing the names of floats will be similarly illuminated.

The floats will be interspersed with bands, each band playing its own repertoire, so that persons who are content with standing at the traditional "given point" and do not move from one place in the line of march to another, will not hear the same tune played twice.

The 20 floats will represent the Seven Ages of Man and the Five Senses. It might seem that the 20 floats would be a great number, but the floats are small, and the distribution of subjects is made clear by the following list:

1. The Infant.
2. The Schoolboy.
3. The Soldier.
4. The Justice.
5. The Middle Age.
6. Old Age.
7. The Five Senses.
8. Sense of Sight.
9. Sense of Hearing.
10. Sense of Smell.
11. Sense of Taste.
12. Sense of Touch.
13. Sight.
14. Hearing.
15. Smell.
16. Taste.
17. Touch.
18. Miss Helen Stanley's concert in the Coliseum will be enjoyed by early arrivals at the ball. She is prima donna soprano for the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company. She will sing at 8:30 and 9:15.
19. The Prophet's entry will follow immediately after the last number on the concert program, and after the celebration of the Queen of the Dance program will begin.

FORMER PRINCESS' OPERA MAY CAUSE HER TROUBLE

LEIPZIG, Germany, Oct. 6.—Signora Toselli, formerly Crown Princess Louise of Saxony, probably will become involved in trouble with the German Government in connection with the opera of which she wrote the libretto and which approaching production in announced in Rome.

The Government declares that if the opera contains any attack on the German royal family it will cut down the Princess's salary, which has been reduced since coming to the Princess's indications.

The authorities will abstain from any arrest or civil prosecution, which may, they say, only furnish publicity for the work.

Keep your eyes open for the new libretto that contains and contains

At the Auto Show

AUTO SHOW OPENS WITH $1,000,000 IN CARS ON DISPLAY

All records for opening attendance were broken at the annual automobile show at Forest Park Highlands Monday night. A big crowd was present to see the 1914 models, exhibited for the first time in St. Louis.

The Highlands presented the appearance of an automobile fairland. Its rustic decorations and brilliant illumination added much to the general attractiveness of the show. The only complaint heard Monday evening was that the street car service was inadequate.
The managers of the show decided to request the management of the railways company to furnish more cars during the remainder of the week.

Automobile owners attended in great numbers. They backed their cars in Forest Park, convenient to the show grounds. So many cars were grouped in the vicinity of the show that it was difficult for the owners to get their machines when they were ready to leave.

The new cars presented numerous attractions for the visitors. Everything in the motor car line, from the 20-horsepower, four-cylinder runabout to the big six-cylinder limousine, could be found in the show grounds.

All the new six-cylinder machines,
which manufacturers are trying to popularize for the 1914 season, were on display. Everything new in electric starting devices, electric lighting plants and gear shift features being demonstrated at the different booths.

The show management has arranged to keep the exhibition open until midnight Tuesday, so that visitors may come after the V. P. parade.

The exhibit of machines is the largest ever seen in St. Louis. It is estimated that nearly $1,000,000 worth of cars are on exhibition. Extra precautions have been taken to prevent a fire. An order prohibiting smoking on the grounds has been issued and is enforced by the show officials, the police and members of the fire department.

500 IN NOME MADE HOMELESS BY FIRE AND STORM; 3 DEAD

NOME, Alaska, Oct. 7.—The storm is abating. Three unidentified bodies have been washed ashore. Five hundred persons are homeless. Help from outside will be necessary.

The steamships Victoria, Navajo and Corwin are safe at anchor seven miles out.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 7.—Half the city of Nome, Alaska, metropolis of the Arctic, is in ruins today. A storm which kicked up a terrific sea battered down the buildings fronting the water and fire in the wreckage added to the destruction until 500 houses were in ruins.

Nome is built on a sandy beach on the shore of the Bering Sea, and every winter, before the sea freezes, the storms pound away at it, but up to yesterday the damage had been trivial.

Yesterday, after hours of an offshore gale, the waves began to break on Front street. Residences and stores, saloons and gambling houses on this street were hurriedly deserted when the water began to eat out the foundations and soon they began to crumble.

All buildings on the Sand Spit, a narrow strip of gold-laden sand which extended two miles out into the water, were smashed and dredges were sunk. All persons on the Sand Spit hurried into Nome when the waves began to threaten.

The fire apparatus, which is conveyed on wheels in summer and on sleighs in winter, was in its building on Front street. It was buried when the building collapsed, and the town was left without protection. The heavy seas put out fires in the wreckage nearest the ocean, but there was no protection for the buildings on higher ground.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

Mitchell Big Six at $2,350.00

MRS. KELLER GETS A LIFE SENTENCE FOR TWO MURDERS

Harrisonville (Mo.) Woman
Found Guilty of Killing Husband and Daughter.

By Associated Press.
HARRISONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 7.—Mrs.
Ida May Keller, charged with killing her husband and 7-year-old daughter, Margaret, was convicted of murder in the first degree here late last night and her punishment was fixed at life imprisonment. The jury took only one ballot.

Mrs. Keller did not change expression or display emotion in any manner when the verdict was announced. She sat unmoved in the afternoon when the prosecutor charged her with the crime in an argument that lasted more than an hour.

A large crowd remained until the verdict was brought in, many persons having taken lunches to the courtroom.

Arthur Keller, a railroad laborer, and his daughter were slain in their beds early on the morning of June 10 last.

Mrs. Keller's screams attracted neighbors and she said a strange man had entered her house and killed her husband and daughter with an ax and escaped. Two days later the woman made a confession to the authorities, admitting the murders. On the witness stand she repudiated the confession, testifying that she had been intimidated and forced into making it by a Kansas City detective.

Judge Whitsett, in his instructions,
said:

"If you find the defendant was influenced by fear of a mob, or that she was so excited her mind or will power were not under her control you should disregard the confession altogether."

Kaiser Divides Bequest With Widow.
BERLIN, Oct. 7.—Emperor William agreed to a compromise in connection with the estate of $800,000 left to him by Herman Knorr, a patriotic but eccentric wood dealer of Kauschwitz. He has consented to take one-half and allow the widow to keep the remainder.

St. Louis' ONE BIG Want Medium

STRANDED

By FLORENCE LILIAN HENDERSON.

"Hill man!" words were spoken in fairly good English amid a jargon of many tongues. He who uttered them came bolting through the window of the little hut I had called home for a number of weeks. I had troubles of my own—mostly American—as you will discern later, but a chord of human sympathy was touched at the foreign appearance of the man.

"Under the cot," I directed quickly; "I will try and protect you."

Then I resumed reading a book, and when a mandarin and half a dozen soldiers filled about the place and searched all of its odd corners for the fugitive, my indifference or quiet dignity repelled a direct invasion and the mob passed on.

It was later that Fooching explained it was from that moment that he attached himself to my interests—luckily for Arline.

The man was a half native, his father an Englishman. Left an orphan in his Chinese principality of Hsiao, he had been cared for by a missionary relative. Educated above the common, smart, energetic and thoroughly familiar with the peoples in the district and their dialects, he had mixed in political intrigues and was described in Tong, he had fled, pursued, I had entered in the temple of the great god, Houghi, watching the details. This was sacrilege. He had been school imprisoned and was to die by the knotted rope on a certain great festival day, which was the following Friday, to propitiate the devotees of the offended deity.

Miss Lisle had appealed to the consular agent to the local authorities. They were helpless to rescue the doomed man. I quieted her frantic fears as best I could and returned to my home to think out some plan to rescue her brother.

I found that the effort would be a dubious one. All along the path were difficulties, risk, danger. I could think only of the pleading face, of the impending doom of her devoted brother. I had to find a confidant. It was Fooching.

"The Amoy!" observed my loyal, grateful pensioner when I had told my story, and he shrugged his shoulders in a dumb way.

"You know them?"

"Perfectly, and their dialect. Force, influence, bribes cannot reach them. It must be a shrewd, keen battle of the wits, if you save your friend."

"Can it be done?"

"It must be done, to repay you life for life, for the sake of the mourning sister. Ah, yes, I must accomplish it."

The next day Fooching came to me. He proffered a photograph card, such as were sold at the Chinese shops. "I noted that it was labeled 'Houghi'."

"A picture of the god of the temple where my friend is held a prisoner?" I asked.

"The same, listen; I have been much interested in the motion picture output of your friend. There is the small projector outfit used to test films. It is highly portable, with a simple calcium attachment. If you could make a slide of this photograph—"

"Yes; what then?" I demanded in hopeful eagerness.

"I will show you a way to save your friend. There must be a second slide—see," and Fooching handed me a double line of Chinese characters written out in their hieroglyphic form. Looking back now, that secret recipe I took to Amoy, constantly, and by wandering train bands, the midnight arrival at the great temple, the scaling of a broken wall, the finding of a suitable hiding place up near the roof—it is all like a dream now, but then Fooching and I shared a thousand perils.

This most vivid feature of that retrospect in the event of the second night. We looked down at the sombre-robed priests, at the victim, Arline's brother, whom they led in. Then, as the sacerdotal rites were about to take place, Fooching spoke the quick word:

"Ready!"

"Whirrrr! Plash!" There was a broad blank wall at the front of the temple, affording an admirable screen. Unassuming the projector I threw the picture of Houghi upon it in a broad clear disc. There were frightened cries from the priests.

"The script—the message!" spoke the quick-witted Fooching, and he flung out the sentences that ordered the priests to instantly release their victim or encounter the wrath of Houghi. The idol had spoken! Trembling with superstitious fears the chief priest released the captive and made him depart.

"I do not know what the priests thought if they ever found the outfit for we abandoned it to join the rescued artist to regain his sister—then Canton."

The faithful Fooching plotted all that dangerous journey. Affairs at the great Chinese metropolis were less involved and stormy than in the interior. We bulked our energies, ran quite a profitable photo playhouse for a few months and by that time I had received a remittance from home.

My love's brother went off to Australia, where a good business prospect was offered, and took Fooching with him.

Arline and myself returned to America. Why not? My latest letter from my dear old mother had concluded: "We are all waiting to welcome your dear, sweet little wife."

(Copyright 1911 by W. B. Chapman.)

abled him to slip the meshes and he showed his fidelity by starting with me. That meant an added burden to my care, for I was poor, desperately poor. I had been part of a surveying party stranded at Lochan. Boxers, revolutionists and abductees of the Chinese dynasty were embroiled in a three-cornered fight. It was dangerous to try and leave. It would be doubly perilous to remain, but—Arline!

She was a singer. What odd fancies, romances, sentimental calculations led her brother, Rupert Lisle, to jump from Canton, 10 leagues across a desert, to try a motion picture venture in the squalid poverty-stricken province of Lochan. I could never figure out.

I only knew that after a week of a vain attempt to work up business, he found his funds gone. The crude natives, never educated up to the marvels of cinematographic science, and Arline had no opportunity of entertaining a Mongol audience with her really exquisite repertoire of classical songs let alone the modern ones.

Then, happened the tragic. I had become slightly acquainted with the Lisle. We arranged to stick together and set back to Canton as best we might. Meanwhile I had fallen in love with Arline, and she was worthy of it. One day a messenger came to my poor quarters in a fast hurry. "Please come at once," read the note, signed "A." and I placed the precious parcel next to my head and fastened to respond in person.

Now this was what happened: The brother, as Arline had gone to Amoy, one of the sacred towns of Tsum occupied by the conquering tribe, and 100 miles distant. He had been discovered in the temple of the great god, Houghi, watching the details. This was sacrilege. He had been school imprisoned and was to die by the knotted rope on a certain great festival day, which was the following Friday, to propitiate the devotees of the offended deity.

Miss Lisle had appealed to the consular agent to the local authorities. They were helpless to rescue the doomed man. I quieted her frantic fears as best I could and returned to my home to think out some plan to rescue her brother.

When We Have Police Women in St. Louis, Matinee Mashing Will Cease—No Doubt.

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch by Marguerite Martyn.

THE GIRL WHO HATES TO STUDY AT SCHOOL

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB.

A YOUNG woman from Brooklyn disappeared, leaving a note saying that she was tired of school and desired to go to work.

I wonder if this girl has any idea of the anxiety and heartache she has caused her parents by this one step. I wonder if she can realize the SELFISHNESS that prompted it.

There is no act of such a nature that does not affect others.

The chances are that if this girl had gone to her parents in a straightforward manner, explained her great wish to leave instead of study, those parents might have FOUND A WAY to do the thing which was happiest for the girl.

For these distracted parents explain that they would indeed be willing to have her quit her studies under such conditions.

This girl was promoted in the spring term. She was bright and studious and would, no doubt, have progressed right along until she should have arrived at such a point of efficiency in education that she could have secured a good position later on and saved herself much hardship that she must encounter WITHOUT the knowledge thus acquired.

Every day we meet older men and women who say:

"If only I had had a little more schooling."

And how many look back at "those good old school days" and wish there had been MORE of them. Only those who have lost them EARLY realize the truth of the old adage, "You never miss the water until the well runs dry."

So it happens that "readin', writin' and 'rithmetic" and other studies which seem such labor to the youthful mind and at times grow distasteful ought in reality to be CHERISHED. These things that seem such hard work NOW are nothing in comparison to the work of making a living later.

Any girl like this one, who tires of dry study and thinks longingly of a job where she may be away from teachers and have the weekly pay envelope, thinking she may be HAPPIER in this way, certainly does not RECKON with the school of experience and hard knocks, especially if she is UNPREPARED for it in the matter of education.

That is the way it is in the matter of saving. If a man is determined to save and get ahead the gibes and jeers of his spendthrift acquaintances will not deter him and he will have the laugh on them later on.

When a man realizes that money is nothing less than stored labor, says the American Bankers' Association, and that the more of it he has saved the less he himself will need to work, because he has stored labor at his command, he has taken a long step in the direction of financial independence. The genuinely thrifty man or woman is not parsimonious or stingy, but thoroughly sensible in money affairs. Such persons simply look at the question in this way—they don't know about the future, but they do know that now they are able to earn and save so they make the most of their present opportunity and prepare themselves for greater ones afterward.

There is no reason, aside from physical and mental disability, why the average person in this country cannot acquire at least enough wealth to make it possible to spend the declining years of life in comfort and without worry or anxiety concerning the necessities of life. But systematic economy is the foundation stone on which the structure of success must be built. In the case of thousands of persons their small savings gave them their first opportunity to apply their abilities in a productive field, and the lessons learned from first savings enabled them to stop waste and leaks, making every dollar work.

Little can be accomplished unless there is a real determination to make progress in this direction, a willingness to make some present sacrifices, if necessary, for the sake of the future competence, and last, but not least, a regular plan of saving and wise investing.

But systematic economy is the foundation stone on which the structure of success must be built. In the case of thousands of persons their small savings gave them their first opportunity to apply their abilities in a productive field, and the lessons learned from first savings enabled them to stop waste and leaks, making every dollar work.

Little can be accomplished unless there is a real determination to make progress in this direction, a willingness to make some present sacrifices, if necessary, for the sake of the future competence, and last, but not least, a regular plan of saving and wise investing.

There is no reason, aside from physical and mental disability, why the average person in this country cannot acquire at least enough wealth to make it possible to spend the declining years of life in comfort and without worry or anxiety concerning the necessities of life. LEARN ONE THING EVERY DAY

"The fault, dear Brutus, lies not in our stars, but in ourselves that we are underlings."—Shakespeare.

"Luck means rising at six in the morning, living on a dollar a day if you earn two, minding your own business and not meddling with other people's."—Max O'Reil.

Luck is a fetish. Too many persons believe in it and fall down and worship it. Too often speculation takes the place of industry, gambling of thrift, extravagance of saving.

Earnest men think more of luck than of luck. But the earnest men are so few in the world, as Dwight says, that their very earnestness becomes at once the badge of their nobility; and as men in a crowd instinctively make room for one who seems eager to force his way through it, so people everywhere open their ranks to one who rushes resolutely toward some object lying beyond him.

That is the way it is in the matter of saving. If a man is determined to save and get ahead the gibes and jeers of his spendthrift acquaintances will not deter him and he will have the laugh on them later on.

When a man realizes that money is nothing less than stored labor, says the American Bankers' Association, and that the more of it he has saved the less he himself will need to work, because he has stored labor at his command, he has taken a long step in the direction of financial independence. The genuinely thrifty man or woman is not parsimonious or stingy, but thoroughly sensible in money affairs. Such persons simply look at the question in this way—they don't know about the future, but they do know that now they are able to earn and save so they make the most of their present opportunity and prepare themselves for greater ones afterward.

There is no reason, aside from physical and mental disability, why the average person in this country cannot acquire at least enough wealth to make it possible to spend the declining years of life in comfort and without worry or anxiety concerning the necessities of life. There Is Just One Animal Man Has Never Conquered

HERE is just one animal man has never conquered, never can conquer. Centuries ago every other beast became the slave of man or else fled far from human habitation. One, and one only, refused to flee or to submit.

The horse, the dog, the cow, the sheep, the goat, the pig—all came into camp thousands of years ago. They have ever since worked for man or fed him, or both. They have been his unquestioned and unquestioning slaves. The elephant, too, has become a servant as have other jungle lords.

The lion, the tiger, the wolf, the bear, and such other savage beasts as have not yielded service to man have slunk away in terror from the path of civilization; and are killed on sight.

But one single animal claims man's protection, shares his food and hearth, wanders at will and unmolested through human haunts; and does absolutely no work in return; obeys no orders, and does not even serve as food or clothing.

This only exception to a world of servants and of scared enemies is the domestic cat.

Think it over. The cat will not work. It will not guard your home. Its flesh and fur serve no use. Its one useful act is the catching of mice and rats. And these it slays and eats because it wants to; not to help out its owner. For example, it does not bring its captured prey to its owner to eat. Nor will it hunt rodents unless it happens to feel like doing so.

The cat won't work. It won't even learn tricks unless it happens to want to. And no one can punish or torture it into learning any trick it doesn't want to learn.

That is why there are almost no trick cats in animal shows and why the few that are there do such very simple tricks. A dog can be tortured into doing tricks. A cat can't.

When some animals become man's slaves and others fled from him, the cat did neither. It simply took all the favors and advantages man had to offer, and refused to do one lick of work in exchange. Beat a dog and he will fawn on you. Beat a cat and it will attack you and then desert you. You can't conquer the cat. You can't make it work.

GRAND JURY WILL LOOK INTO ABUSES IN JUSTICE COURTS

Circuit Attorney Harvey Orders Investigation Involving Loan Sharks.

The October grand jury, selected Monday afternoon by Circuit Judge Hendricks, was instructed by him to pay particular attention to automobile fatalities, the regulation of liquor sales, the law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to youths under 18 years and the smoking of cigarettes in public by minors.

In addition to the Court's instructions, Circuit Attorney Harvey said Tuesday, he would call the grand jury's attention to certain practices in Justice of the Peace courts in which money was being collected for unlicensed liquor and for other unlicensed businesses to receive special benefits.

The investigation of which by the Bar Association's Legal Aid Bureau was ublished in the Post-Dispatch several weeks ago.

The Jury Impanelled consists of the following members, three of which will be held in reserve for emergency. This is the first time in recent months that reserve members have been selected. They will be ready to serve as substitutes in case of illness of any of the regular members: C. D. Blake, 4 Beverly place; Mollusius H. Buettner, 1383A Montclair avenue; Cyrus E. Clark, 4663 McPherson avenue; John H. Connors Jr., 855 West 11th avenue; James H. Hawes, 585 West 11th avenue; George W. Petring, 1311 Pine boulevard; Julius H. Discrimination is charged in water rates of county

RATES OF COUNTY

Complaints that the West St. Louis Water and Light Co., which supplies water to St. Louis County, discriminate unjustly between consumers receiving service under similar conditions, and exacts an unreasonable meter fee without paying interest on the deposit, have been filed with the Missouri Public Service Commission by the residents of St. Louis County.

Rates in University City. The rates on gas in University City, Balcon's subdivision, according to a complaint, are $1.12 a month for a minimum of 2500 gallons, $1.50 a month for 4500 gallons, and $1.88 a month for

But, says a Harbale, "In addition to the meter charge, the company makes a charge of $1 for a connection. That is an outright charge, and not a deposit. Some of the consumers have complained that the difficulty is that the company, in addition to its scheduled meter reading, has a difficulty upon them, that it is a difficulty upon them."

My complaint was signed by every student of North University City who had filed. In my presence I was subjected to approximately $10 fee service for the quarter ending July 1. My complaint, according to the prison I was assigned, would have averaged $1.25 per day for each of the 22 days. While I was there, each of these payments was imposed on me. I had the complaint sent the quarter ending July 1. It is essential that it be maintained per-

"I SEE you have taken up aviation," remarked Avenue.
"You must have seen my 'white wings' working," replied Street.
"Yes," said Avenue. "Here comes Car. Hello Car! Keeping Busy?"
"Sure," replied Car. "I keep running around all over the city keeping on the track of things. Have you seen Locomotive since he entered politics? They say he had a strong pull."

"Yes," put in Street. "He has a regular Tammany haul. I saw him with Cafe yesterday wetting his whistle. I hear Theater was arrested."

"That was for making a scene," announced Car. "I don't see where he gets all his money. He does nothing but play."

"I hear he's going in for astronomy," said Avenue. "The stars have quite an attraction for him."

"That reminds me," Street broke in. "I understand Church is going in for reform work."

"Yes," said Car. "He's quite a chap to aspire so high. Too bad Library is going to fall."

"He does quite a volume of business," mused Street, "but he doesn't know how to keep his books. By the way, Car, you're a hero. I saw you stop yesterday right in front of a bevy of pretty girls and you didn't seem at all bashful. You're very brave."

"That's me!" laughed Car. "None but the brave deserve the fair, you know. Ding! Ding! Goodbye!"

Beyond the Law.

ONE of the officials of our Embassy at London tells of an incident that occurred in a train proceeding through the north of Scotland. There was another passenger in the compartment at the time the American entered, says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

At the next station three Scots came in. They were all big, burly men and completely filled up the seat on the side of the compartment where the first mentioned passenger was seated. At the next station the carriage door opened to admit a tall, cadaverous individual, whose girth was about that of a lamp post.

He tried to wedge himself in between two of the passengers already there, and said to one of them:

"Here, you must move up a bit. Each seat is intended to accommodate five persons, and according to act of Parliament, you are entitled only to 18 inches of space."

"Aye, aye, my friend," replied one of the Scots. "that's a' very guld for you that's been built that way; but ye canna blame me if I ha' na' been constructed according to act of Parliament."

A Woman's Hair.

A GOLDEN hair's before me, All gleam it lies so fair; I wonder who once owned it, With its glint of gold so rare! Mayhap some knight once fought for her

In days of long ago While queen she was of some fair land

With life and love aglow, Only a woman's hair it is, In a tiny, curling loop, But I think I'd like it better If it were not in my soup!

THE immortality of French fashions was being discussed at a tea in Denver. The new idea of American fashion for American women was being praised. The Rev. Alpheus C. Kerr then said:

"It is time that we removed our women from the peril of French fashions, with their suggestive lines. I attended the opera last year during the Easter holidays. My companion pointed out to me a young matron blazing with diamonds, and he said:

"That is old Gold's daughter, the Countess. I knew her father when he went about with his pants held up by one suspender."

"I regarded the beautiful young woman through my glass. Her dress was audacious. I said, dryly: 'She must take after her father, then. Her gown, I see, is held up by one strap.'"

Good Reason.

MRS. MADISON, whose latest hobby is the psychology and the esoteric influence of colors, was deeply gratified when her husband admitted, without urging, that there might be something in her theory after all.

"Dawson put me on to it today at the farm," Mr. Madison continued. "Dawson?" questioned Mrs. Madison, amazed, for Dawson is the manager of her husband's stables, and unknown among psychologists.

Mr. Madison nodded. "He says the bays eat more than the grays." "Really?" It was a humble victory, but Mrs. Madison's face glowed with triumph. "How does Dawson account for it?"

"There are 10 more bays than grays," said Mr. Madison. "Youth's Companion."

Stories St. Louisans Tell IN A CHINESE RESTAURANT.

JAMES E. SMITH, former president of the Business Men's League has traveled widely in the Orient. He recently toured Japan, and in a letter to a friend told of a side journey to Hong Kong, where he went to one of the big restaurants to dine.

Being unable to understand Chinese, Smith had to take what the waiter brought him. He was very much concerned in the kind of meat that he was being served, and determined to make an effort to find out what it was. He pointed to the piece of meat, and in very fine imitation of a duck, said:

"Quack, quack!"

The Chinese waiter shook his head and laughed. Then in splendid imitation, he shouted so loud that he could be heard all over the restaurant:

"Bow wow!"

The Real Sufferer.

DURING the sermon a baby began to cry, and its mother began to carry it toward the door. "Stop!" the minister exclaimed. "Don't go away. The baby is not disturbing me."

The mother continued her way to the door with the very audible remark: "Oh, 'e ain't, ain't 'e? But you're a-disturbin' of 'im."

Getting Off Cheap.

"DO you think you will be acquitted?" asked a New York man of a friend who had been indicted on a conspiracy charge.

"Yes, I think so."

"Has your lawyer given you good grounds to think so?"

"No," responded the hopeful client, "but I have given him good grounds to think so. I've deeded him all my real estate as his fee."
